Dear Captain Patton:

There has been considerable correspondence between the Forest Service and the United States Geographic Board relative to the proper spelling of the name Toyabe, for a range of mountains and a national forest in Nye County, Nevada.

The board decided the spelling to be Toyabe on October 7, 1908. Most of the recent maps have accepted this spelling. The Presidential Proclamation, however, establishing Toiyabe, spelled the name in that manner, which the Forest Service believes definitely establishes the proper spelling of the word.

According to the records, your C. & G. S. Special Publication, No. 19, 1914, which established four triangulation station, in 1880, uses the spelling Toiyabe for these stations. Has that spelling been changed in your recent publications covering these stations:

Toiyabe Dome<sup>m</sup>
Toiyabe Peak
Toiyabe Range Peak
Toiyabe Range Peak, Cairn

Very sincerely yours,

Will C. Barnes,
Secretary.
